Background

Your starting point if you are unsure which way to go. It reads your qualification, experience, situation, location and constraints and gives a market-grounded direction — three ranked paths (get a job now, skill up first, or start your own business) with what each looks like for you, a realistic timeline and indicative income, and the exact next step. It points you to the right Rozgar tools for the path you pick. It is honest guidance based on your inputs and general market knowledge, not a personality quiz and not a guarantee.

Purpose of this tool & output

A market-grounded read on your best next move — a job, skilling, or your own business — with 3 ranked paths and why

How the output is used

Use it as your starting point — read the three ranked paths honestly, pick the recommended one (or the one that fits your constraints), and open the Rozgar tools it points you to for that path. Come back and re-run it whenever your situation changes.

Important cautions

This is a market-grounded direction from what you told it and general knowledge, not a guarantee — validate it against your own local reality and the people around you. The best path is the one you will actually commit to; the income figures are indicative.
